Feedback from students:

Hariram Subramanian

“The opportunity to travel to Leeds University Business School in the UK, which is a partner business school with the German Graduate School of Management and Law (GGS) was a unique and invaluable learning experience. I took lectures in international finance, management consulting, international marketing and global export management at Leeds University Business School, and these lectures complemented the majority of my study in GGS where I am specialising in International Business.

Leeds University Business School

I formed solid friendships at Leeds with students both from domestic and international backgrounds. Being a student at Leeds University Business School, I understand why the university had a top international reputation.

Some of the things that I really enjoyed in Leeds Business School were the diversity of the classroom, top notch lectures, discussions that both challenged and strengthened my ideas, and the excellent facilities for a world class business education.

I was impressed with the quality of the professors and my cohort at Leeds. Leeds provided me with an excellent set of business frameworks and great peer to peer learning from people with diverse experiences and a multitude of perspectives.”
